

Nad Al Sheba Golf Course gets a new home at Meydan

Golf

By Staff Reporter

Meydan, the developers behind Meydan City, revealed yesterday that the Nad Al Sheba Golf Course will reopen at Meydan in the Autumn of 2011.

The developers held a groundbreaking ceremony on Wednesday to officially launch the new Meydan Golf Course.

The Meydan Golf Course will be open to members and guests.

Meydan City Corporation commercial director Mohammad Abdul Nasser Al Khayat said: "Today is a great day for golf enthusiasts, families and Meydan.

"With the re-opening of the old and much loved Nad Al Sheba Golf Course at Meydan, Dubai will once again see the return of one of its most popular and favourite sports and family entertainment icons."

The new course will feature a driving range and a nine hole course designed by Peter Harradine.

The Meydan Golf Course itself

Mohammad Al Khayat and Abdin Nasralla look on during the first test shot.

will retain elements of the old Nad Al Sheba course and include new challenges for novices and professionals alike.

Additionally, an exclusive clubhouse will form the social hub of the course offering family entertainment and an array of food and beverage facilities.

Meydan Hotels and Hospitality Division vice president Abdin Nasralla said: "Nad Al Sheba will once again have its golf course back and be better than ever with the Meydan Golf Course."